ENGLISH PREMIER ARRIVES IN U. S. FRIDAY

TO CONFER ON ANGLO-AMERICAN NAVAL AGREEMENT

J. RAMSAY MAC DONALD IS TO MEET PRESIDENT
HOOVER

NO BRITISH PREMIER EVER UN-DERTOOK A SIMILAR MISSION

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Oct. 3.—When J. Ramsay MacDonald, Great Britain's labor premier, arrives here tomorrow aboard the Berengaria to settle with President Hoover the method of an Anglo-American understanding on naval and related matters, he sets an historic precedent. No British premier ever undertook a similar mission.

Just now, MacDonald is by all odds the outstanding personality among the peace-time statesmen of Europe. The eyes of the continents are focused on him. America in particular is eager to see what manner of man has taken the helm in England and steered such a vigorous course. When he visited here before, he was not quite the world figure he is today.

MacDonald is a statesman extraordinary, of unique double personality. In his inflexibility and idealism, he is reminiscent of Woodrow Wilson. In his vigor and directness he recalls Theodore Roosevelt. Yet he is not like either.

MacDonald is a man of the people and understanding their needs. He was born in the little Scottish village of Lossiemouth and made his own way to the top. In London as a young man he struggled for a time on $2.50 a week, drinking hot water instead of tea and still managing to find time to save and study. His rise was methodical and steady. He worked from the bottom just as surely as Abraham Lincoln.

Washington, Oct. 3.—Messages of greeting to Premier MacDonald were wirelessly to the S. S. Berengaria today by President Hoover.

The president's message follows: "As you near the shores of the United States I send to you the most cordial welcome not only in my own name but on behalf of my fellow countrymen as well."

By NORMAN SMITH
With Premier Ramsay MacDonald's Party

Aboard S. S. Berengaria, Oct. 3.—The last day of the voyage to New York and the approaching nearness of an important mission aroused Premier Ramsay MacDonald and his daughter, Isabel, to keen anticipation today.

With the scheduled arrival of the Berengaria in New York less than 24 hours distant, Miss Isabel talked enthusiastically of her visit to the United States. Her father, although not expressing his feelings as visibly, nevertheless could not conceal the eagerness with which he looks forward to his approaching conferences with President Hoover at Washington.

The premier, in contrast to the comparatively leisurely days of the first part of the voyage, is spending most of his time at work, appearing on deck only briefly.

"I am looking forward to my visit in New York immensely," Miss Isabel said. "Of course, I must watch carefully not to make any engagements on days when father is free. I hope to get a chance to see theater but will be willing to consider a big movie instead."

The prospect of a shopping tour is not so exciting to Miss Isabel. She told me she "had plenty of shopping" during her last time in New York when friends took her around.

The greatest disappointment to the young woman who arrives as official host for Britain's prime minister is that she will not get to see Coney Island in full season.

"Just imagine, no public Coney Island at this time of the year. But I want to see the working class amusing themselves so maybe I can visit some big sporting event if there is an opportunity."

She is somewhat doubtful about the American accent and will try to keep her native Scotch accent.

"I found it difficult to avoid lapsing into the American accent last time but this time I will try not to do it."

To my question "What do you think of American girls?" Miss Isabel replied:

"I think American girls are just as capable of earning their own living as British girls."

Both Miss MacDonald and her father have been "experimenting" with American food during the last day or so. Miss Isabel has had for her breakfast coffee, fruit, rolls and cereals but never bacon and eggs. Both she and her father had tried buckwheat cakes and Isabel confessed that "I just love waffles."

The engineers of the Berengaria say that Premier MacDonald has brought them good luck. For the first time in history the Berengaria has been obliged to slow her engines in order to not arrive in New York too soon.

BASS VOICES SOOTHE PEEVISH BABY TO SLEEP

Chicago, Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Fathers who sing bass have a big edge when it comes to putting a fretful baby to sleep, Dr. John B. Morgan of Northwestern university told delegates at the National Safety Council today.

Sounds of low frequency and intensity in moderate doses will help to quiet little Johnny at 3 a. m. when the fanciest walking of bedroom floors fails and sounds of high frequency only makes the crying louder, Dr. Morgan said. By means of a loudspeaker, Dr. Morgan tried out his theories on a dozen babies in Evanston and it worked.

JAS. C. MORRISON, MORRIS EDITOR, TO FACE QVALE

REPUBLICANS OF 7TH DISTRICT
AGREE TO BACK NEWS-
PAPERMAN

SPECIAL CONGRESSIONAL ELEC-TION SET BY GOVERNOR
FOR OCTOBER 16

St. Paul, Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Republicans of the seventh Minnesota district have agreed to back James C. Morrison, editor of Morris, in the special congressional election set for Oct. 16, when a successor to the late Rep. O. J. Kvale will be chosen officially here today.

This elimination of candidates makes unnecessary the primary election called by Governor Theodore Christanson for Oct. 29, according to leaders of the three parties involved.

The unanimous endorsement of Morrison was made possible by the withdrawal from the race of J. M. Haugland of Montevideo and Lawrence M. Carlson of Renville, who had filed their candidacies for the republican nomination. O. C. Neuman of Wheaton who was considered for the nomination also withdrew his candidacy.

Apul J. Kvale of Benson, son and secretary of the late congressman, will represent the farmer-labor party while C. B. Johnson of Willmar was drafted as a candidate by a district meeting of democrats.

Filing of candidacies for the election was closed at the secretary of state's office here Wednesday, and no other candidates can oppose the three regular party men.

ROY BROWN, OLD WAR ACE, NOW MISSING

HE AND 2 COMPANIONS LOST IN NORTHERN WASTES SEARCH-
ING FOR MCLPINE

HE FLEW A PONTOON-EQUIPPED
PLANE INTENDING TO RE-
TRACE MCLPINE ROUTE

Winnipeg, Man., Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Roy Brown, war ace who shot down the famous Baron Von Richthofen, was missing with two companions today in the barren wastes of the northwest territory which two weeks ago swallowed up Col. C. D. H. McAlpine and his party of seven aerial explorers.

Accompanied by Pilot William Spence and Capt. G. S. Blanchette, Brown took off from Baker's Lake base early Tuesday on a 150-mile flight to Beverley Lake. He flew a pontoon-equipped plane and intended to retrace the route of the McAlpine party to Bathurst.

No word of his arrival at Beverley Lake had been received here today by Dominion Explorers, in charge of the McAlpine search, although the flight should have taken less than two hours.

The flight was undertaken after Blanchette reported he had traced the McAlpine party's two planes as far as Baker's Lake on their ill-fated flight from Coronation Gulf on the Arctic ocean and was convinced they had been forced down within 200 miles of that point. He obtained permission from the Dominion Explorers to take one last look for the missing men before winter set in and selected Brown and Spence as his co-pilots.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German Minister of Foreign Affairs, Dies at Berlin Today

WORRY, ANXIETY BRING ABOUT STROKE APOPLEXY

WAS ONE OF EUROPE'S LEADING STATESMEN, ONLY 51
YEARS OLD

FORCEFUL INFLUENCE TOWARD INTERNATIONAL DISARMA-
MENT AND WORLD PEACE

Berlin, Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Dr. Gustav Stresemann, German minister of foreign affairs and one of Europe's leading statesmen, died at 5:25 A. M. today.

Stresemann, who had been in ill health for more than a year, contracted a chill a week ago and had been confined to his bed ever since. At 10:30 o'clock last night he suffered an apoplectic stroke and died seven hours later.

It was generally believed that the apoplectic stroke was brought on by worry and anxiety over the decision of the Volks party, of which he was leader, to withdraw its support from the coalition government. The leaders of the party met around Stresemann's bedside some days ago and against Stresemann's wishes decided to refuse the government's proposal to postpone consideration of the insurance and unemployment bills until after the ratification by parliament of the Young plan.

Stresemann was only 51 years old. With his death Europe has lost an enlightened and forceful influence in the movement toward international disarmament and world peace.

As chancellor of Germany in 1923 and as foreign minister in several cabinets, he became the official spokesman of Germany before the world, and his voice was heard in every international conference of importance that has been held in the last five years.

In the interest of peace, Stresemann supported the formulation of the Dawes plan in 1924, aided in the construction of the Locarno treaties in 1925 and brought about Germany's entry into the League of Nations in 1926. These three achievements alone won him the name of Germany's "great post-war statesman."

In 1926, he shared in the division of the Nobel peace prize with Premier Briand, Sir Austin Chamberlain and General Charles G. Daves.

Nothing was known regarding Stresemann's possible successor. It was announced, however, that Secretary Carl Theodor Van Schubert would temporarily attend to the office of foreign affairs.

Stresemann probably will lie in state in the Reichstag until Sunday when the funeral will take place.

2 STATES ARE RELIEVED FROM HEAVY FLOODS

WERE AFTERMATH OF HURRI-CANE IN SOUTH CAROLINA AND GEORGIA

UNOFFICIAL ESTIMATE IS HALF MILLION DOLLAR FLOOD DAMAGE

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—South Carolina and Georgia, with the exception of Augusta, were relieved today from heavy floods of the past week, caused by the tropical hurricane that swept the states on a path to the North Carolina coast.

An unofficial check of the flood damage revealed it amounted to more than half a million dollars to cotton, tobacco and grain crops, bridges, highways and lines of communication. Telegraph lines suffered the greatest loss. Railroad schedules on certain lines were halted for several days.

(By United Press)
In the wake of the hurricane that took seven lives in the southeast and caused millions in flood and wind damage to property and crops, rehabilitation began today.

As towns once more were connected with the outside world the sole remaining fears for loss of life centered in a search for two barges, with 14 men on board, lost since the weekend disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico.

The barges were torn loose from the towing tug Bafshe. Coast guard cutters and naval planes participated in the search today along the west coast of Florida.

Meanwhile the steamship Carlton reported itself coming up the Mississippi to New Orleans with three members of the freighter Wisconsin's bridge crew rescued after the vessel sank in the Florida Straits.

Cotton was damaged especially in Georgia from wind and citrus crop was reported badly hit.

Parts of Georgia still suffered from floods.

The convention of the American Legion Auxiliary also will close with elections. Mrs. Donald MacRae, of Council Bluffs, Ia.; Mrs. Milton Kramer, of Madison, S. D., and Mrs. William H. Cudworth, of Milwaukee, have been nominated for the national presidency.

In the competition for drum corps Wednesday that of Frankfort Post 211 of Philadelphia won first place, with Fort Dodge, Ia., second and Edison Post, Chicago, third. The other seven corps in the final contest finished in the following order: Los Angeles, Salem, Ore.; Rockford, Ill.; Elyria, O.; Fairbault, Minn.; Kankakee, Ill.; and Long Beach, Calif.

Milwaukee's Legion band won over 12 other contestants. Columbus, O., was second, and Kenosha, Wis., third. The Bessie Edwards unit of Cambridge, Mass., won out over Upton, Ia., unit in the women's auxiliary drill team contest.

The Kentucky department rifle team, scoring 1,309 out of a possible 1,500, won first place in a target contest. Second place went to the Ohio department, while Wisconsin's department was third.

Investigation of propaganda organizations, including those with pacifist policies, was recommended by the committee on national defense. Among the organizations whose records should be inquired into, the committee reported, are: National Council for the Prevention of War, Federal Council of Churches of Christ, American Civil Liberties Union, League for Industrial Democracy, National Student Forum, War Registers Union, Young Workers League, Young Pioneers, and American Association for the Advancement of Atheism.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 3.—A former college professor who enlisted as a private in 1917 and rose to rank of major, today was chosen national commander of the American Legion. A. L. Bodenhamer, of Eldorado, Ark., is the new Legion chief. He was born at Goldthwaite, Texas, and was graduated from Baylor University, at Waco.

MINISTER IN LOVE AFFAIR WITH "MA" KENNEDY

REV. H. H. CLARK SEEKS $50,000
HEART BALM FROM SEATTLE MATRON

TESTIFIES LATE WEDNESDAY HE IS NOW A DESTITUTE, BROKEN MAN

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Pale and worn from two days of grueling examination, the Rev. H. H. Clark, a "minister without a Bible," was to take the witness stand Thursday and resume his revelations of a pathetic love affair with Mrs. Minnie E. "Ma" Kennedy.

Clark, whose suit for $50,000 heart balm against Mrs. Kennedy is being heard before Superior Judge Ronald, testified late Wednesday that he is a destitute, broken man.

He told of "lean days" that followed his first association with the mother of Almee McPherson, the evangelist. He listened head bowed, while John S. Robinson, defense counsel, read extracts from letters he wrote to Mrs. McPherson and May Burbeck, Mrs. Kennedy's companion, asking for help. "I'm willing to drop out of this if I can get some help," Clark wrote to Miss Burbeck. "Just a small loan would help."

While Robinson sought to show the jury of eight women and four men that the minister was willing "to drop all" for $200, Clark evaded his questions and said he "would have considered a loan and help merely expressions of willingness on Mrs. Kennedy's part to discuss the situation."

Clark admitted he was so desperately in need of money that he was forced to sell his Bible.

"For a preacher to sell his Bible means he is destitute. I merely put it that way to show them the extreme situation that existed," Clark said.

Mrs. Kennedy, seated opposite her asserted lover, cried softly when the minister told of their first meeting in a hotel.

"Did you resist?" Robinson asked. "My resistance was broken down."

"Did you call for help or make an outcry?"

"No sir," Clark said he had no resistance to offer because they had pledged their marriage. During their brief association, Clark testified he yielded four times to Mrs. Kennedy's asserted advances.

During the cross-examination, the minister said Mrs. Kennedy advised him to be "like Kenneth Ormiston," the radio operator whose name figured prominently in the Almee McPherson kidnapping case.

"Mrs. Kennedy held him up as a model and said I should be like him," Clark testified.

GUARDSMEN ARE PATROLLING AREA IN MARION, N. C.

In addition to the four union men who died when strikers and sheriff's deputies clashed, three others are at the Marion General hospital still in a serious condition, nine are less seriously hurt but confined to hospital beds, and a dozen others are nursing minor injuries at their homes.

The national guardsmen, ordered here from Salisbury and North Wilkesboro, arrived last night, one company went immediately to the Marion mill and Colonel Copeland, commanding, ordered out patrol.

STEEL BUOY, KILLING MAN
INSIDE AND 2 OUTSIDE

Bayfield, Wis., Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Three members of the United States light-house tender Marigold were killed and four others were injured late Wednesday when a Lake Superior buoy on which they were working, exploded near here, it was learned today.

The dead were: Louis DeVerndt, Jacksonville, Mich. John Sipkewski, Sault Ste. Marie. Marki Potestio, Detroit.

The explosion occurred when the three men sought to install an acetylene gas cartridge in the steel buoy preparatory to late fall shipping.

Capt. A. J. Gastafson of Detroit barely escaped injury or possible death when he was called from beside the buoy to another part of the tender shortly before the explosion occurred.

The injured, whose wounds were dressed in a hospital here, were: Malcolm McRea, Duluth.

John Johnson, Detroit. Sophus Stora, Detroit. Leonard Simba, Harbor Beach, Mich.

Cause of the blast was not determined. Sipkewski was known to have been inside the buoy and DeVerndt and Potestio were standing on the sides when guiding mark was shattered by the explosion.

The Marigold was working her way back to Detroit from Duluth conditioning buoys for the winter.

SEEK TO TAKE WHITE CASE TO FEDERAL COURT

International Falls, Minn., Oct. 3.—(U.P.)—Criminal prosecution against Emmett J. White, youthful customs border patrolman, was stayed here today by a writ seeking to take his trial for the alleged second degree murder of Henry Virkula to a federal court.

The writ was issued in a Minneapolis federal court, supposedly at the request of L. L. Dril, United States district attorney, shortly after White was indicted late Tuesday by a Koochiching county grand jury. The document was brought here and served on J. H. Drummond, clerk of the county district court.

Serving of the writ automatically halted all proceedings until the question of jurisdiction is settled, probably in federal court at Duluth.

"Alibi" Shows Crooks With Their Halos Discarded

And his sensational photo drama, "Alibi," is convincing proof of his contention, for the picture deals with criminals as they have never before been dealt with on the screen.

Cars May Go Around If Road is Blocked

If a public highway is out of repair and impassable, a traveler may lawfully go over the adjoining land, without being guilty of trespass, according to a Minnesota Highway Bulletin just issued. This is the rule of common law, according to an opinion of J. E. Markham, assistant attorney general.

"This right of diversion is based upon the maxim that private mischief shall be endured rather than public inconvenience, and on the ground that it is for the public good that there should be at all times free passage along the highways for all subjects of the state," says Mr. Markham. "The right, having its origin in necessity, is limited by the necessity which creates it, and is not to be exercised from convenience merely, nor when, by the exercise of due care, after notice of obstruction, other ways may be selected and the obstruction avoided."

Mr. Markham quotes a decision by the court of appeals of West Virginia which states the law concisely, as follows:

"It is well also to note that in addition to all the public roads, he may, under certain circumstances, rightfully pass over private property. If, in traveling upon a highway, he finds it obviously dangerous at any point, he may pass around such a place over adjacent private property, and even remove fences and destroy crops in doing so, provided he does not deviate farther from the road, nor do more injury to the private premises, than is actually necessary, and no other reasonably convenient public way is available."

The opinion is of special interest at this time of the year, when state and county highway departments are negotiating for permission to place snow fences on private property near the highways. If a road is snow blocked, due to the refusal of a farmer to allow the erection of snow fences on his property, travelers may go through fields or meadows, cutting fences if necessary, to get around the drifts which block the road.

During the last three or four years, the Highway department in acquiring right-of-way has included in the easement a clause covering the right to erect snow fences. On right-of-way acquired this summer and to be acquired hereafter, this clause is not necessary, as under a law of the last legislature, the right to erect snow fences is automatically included in the easement, unless stated to the contrary.

On all the older roads it is necessary to get permission from the land owner to put up snow fence. In a few cases highway officials have difficulty in obtaining the necessary permission, and sometimes failure to get permission to put up snow fence has resulted in long snow blockades.

No compensation is allowed for the use of the land on which fences are placed, but in spite of this fact the majority of farmers have without hesitance allowed fences to be placed on their land. They feel that the advantages of an open road are worth many times any slight damage which may be done to the land.

In erecting snow fences, the Highway department makes every possible effort not to damage farm property nor interfere with farm work. Snow fence is put up after the crops are removed in the fall and taken away before spring work starts.

Women Are Free!

AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Legally, politically and socially woman has been emancipated from those chains which bound her. AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE has exploded the ridiculous theory that forced the stigma of inferiority upon a sex.

"toasting did it" —

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful, corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation—No Cough.

TUNE IN—The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra, every Saturday night, over a coast-to-coast network of the N. B. C.

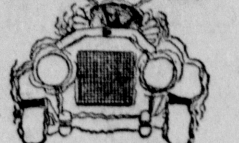

©1929, The American Tobacco Co., Mfrs.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

DANGER! SHIMMY

The first chuck hole may take your car out of control!

Wheels and axles out of line scuff the tread of your tires, too, and make the car hard to steer. Dangerous! Expensive! Your wheels and axles need to be checked every three or four months to make sure they are straight and in line. Cars with four wheel brakes and balloon tires need to be checked oftener! We are equipped to give

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

EDDIE REGAN, once a member of a New York gang, has escaped and gone to Virginia, where he befriends Penfield Paradine, who dies and leaves all his possessions to Eddie. Eddie had been in love with Bernice Veressi, "gang girl," but thought of her as put out of his heart when he meets and falls in love with Marian Thorndike. Eddie declares his love to Marian, but she discourages him and tells him she expects to marry Tom Freeman. Freeman dislikes Eddie, and one afternoon when Eddie is calling on Marian, Freeman comes in and insults Eddie. Marian tells Eddie it is hopeless for him to love her, and Eddie, discouraged, decides to go to Richmond. While he is there he meets Mike Arno, a former member of the gang. Arno tells him that Bernice is still in love with him (Eddie) and Eddie's thoughts once more swing to her. Arno tries to make Eddie return to the city, but Eddie refuses and goes back to the farm. Freeman listens in on a conversation over the telephone between Marian and Eddie, and promptly rings Eddie back and tells him that things must be settled between them. They meet and a fight ensues in which Freeman is knocked out. Eddie puts Freeman in the automobile and takes him to Marian's house.

Now Go On with the Story

CHAPTER XXXII.

THE great chest of the man on the bed began to rise and fall with a deeper breathing. He closed his eyes and then opened them again.

"Hello, Marian," he said in a peculiar feeble voice. "I'll be with you in a minute." But his eyes went shut again and Eddie was moved with the conviction that it was dangerous to let the consciousness lapse, once it had been aroused. He took Freeman's head in his hands and massaged the temples, drew strong fingers through the scalp and down over the back of the neck.

"Snap out of it, Freeman! Wake up! You've got to pull yourself together!"

He took Freeman by the shoulders and shook him. "Don't be so rough with him," Marian protested. "You might increase his injury." "I've got to be rough!" Eddie said, nervously. "I've got to get him out of this."

"Don't you think we had better call the doctor, Eddie?" "Not yet," Eddie took a chunk of ice and rubbed it on Freeman's pine. No man partly conscious could resist the indignity of such treatment. An awakening vigor surged through the victim and he flung out a protesting arm.

"Hey—cut that out!" His voice was normal. Rapidly he batted his eyes. "Say—"

His gaze fell upon Marian and suddenly he became aware that he was in bed and covered with a sheet except for the upper part of his body, which was scantily protected by his Summer undergarment. That, possibly, he had been near death, that he had fought and been defeated by his hated rival—all this vanished into insignificance. What startled and flooded him with humility was the fact that he was ridiculously immodest and helpless in the presence of Marian Thorndike. With a wild clutch he pulled the sheet up around his neck. His eyes avoided the girl and turned belligerently toward Eddie.

"You—you." His voice shook with rage. "You stole my clothes! Where's my shirt? Give it back to me!" Eddie motioned Marian to leave the room. He picked up the bundle of Freeman's clothes and shook the shirt out. They were alone.

"Here you are, old man." Freeman, confused and abashed, sat up in bed, submitting to the indignity of Eddie helping him into his garments. He reached for his collar and tie, staring balefully at his enemy.

"How do you feel?" Eddie asked him, apprehensively. "I've got a headache," Freeman declared, antagonistically. "What I want to know is—how did I get here? I remember having a fight with you and then I woke up. You're making a fool out of me in front of a lady."

"I couldn't help it," Eddie protested. "I was trying to save your life." But the iron had entered Tom Freeman's soul, and he had no patience with such trifling explanations. "Any time you try to save my life I'll thank you to make the attempt without taking my shirt off. No wonder I wanted to fight with a guy like you. What happened—did you knock me out?"

"It was right to the chin. You left yourself wide open," explained Eddie. Freeman knotted his tie. "All right—I can't kick about that. I remember that you put up one whale of a scrap for a fellow your size. Yes, sir, you put up a better fight than I thought was in you. You licked me fair and square and so far as that part of it is concerned I hold no grudge. Where are we—whose house is this?"

"You stayed unconscious so long I thought you might die, so I brought you here to—Miss Marian," Eddie admitted, haltingly. "Why did you bring me here?"

"Listen, Freeman—all I was thinking about was trying to save your life. This was the quickest and best place I could think of. Miss Marian acted like a good sport, and she worked like a trojan to bring you to."

"Hand me my coat," Freeman grumbled. He threw his legs over the side of the bed and stood up. "So you were afraid I was going to die, eh?"

"You had me worried," Eddie admitted. He helped Freeman into the coat. For a moment they stood looking at each other awkwardly. Unexpectedly, Tom Freeman grinned.

"Any fellow that can lick me," he spoke slowly. "I've got to respect. Maybe I had the wrong idea of you all the time, Regan. I thought you were just a fresh little squirt—but you're more of a man than I thought. How would you like to shake hands and call it square?"

Eddie was astonished at Tom Freeman's avowal. The fact was incredible, but there stood Tom Freeman before him, his face marked and discolored from blows, with his hand outstretched. Behind his blustering manner Eddie began to realize with difficulty there was an unsuspected fairness.

"We can't carry on this grudge without making fools of ourselves," Freeman said, frankly. "Besides, we're going to start people talking unpleasantly about Marian if we don't cut it out. You've fought me a fair fight and you treated me right, too, after I was knocked out. Let's shake."

Eddie was compelled so swiftly to alter his whole opinion about Tom Freeman that he was confused. But he took the proffered hand.

"We'll just forget all about it," he murmured.

"It's still pretty hard for me to believe," Freeman went on, "that you licked me in a square stand-up fight. I thought I'd eat you up. Boy, you sure can hit hard—I must have been unconscious for half an hour."

"I think you hit your head on something when you fell."

Freeman rubbed his jaw reflectively. "Well, I got no kick coming." He grinned ruefully. "If Marian and her father want to stand for you—it's all right with me."

"That's the way I feel about you, too," Eddie told him. Marian returned to the room. Her eyes widening with surprise at the apparent amicability between the former enemies.

"Oh!" she said. Freeman smiled at her sheepishly. "We've patched it up," he told her. "From now on we're both going to behave."

She looked from one to the other. Eddie's face, except for a red blotch on his temple, was unmarked, but Freeman's countenance was purple in spots and swollen. Both of them were as embarrassed as school boys.

Neither of them could possibly know the relief she felt at this armistice.

"Well, in that case, suppose we all go downstairs?" This was her own house and, however bizarre the circumstances, she maintained her poised air of hospitality. "I think you two have behaved with perfect idiocy—but I'm simply delighted you have come to your senses at last. Do you feel all right now, Tom?"

"I don't feel like a million dollars but I'm pretty good," he responded.

There was no necessity of her inquiring about Eddie's condition. Obviously he was chipper and filled with a repressed cheerfulness. Downstairs, Freeman decided to drive on home and, temporarily at least, leave his rival in possession of the field.

"I didn't have a date here to-night and you did," he told Eddie. Marian looked at him with more suspicion than tenderness. He had suffered a severe physical jolt and there remained with her a fear that he had not quite recovered. No man who had been knocked unconscious could possibly be entirely recovered so soon.

AUTHORITIES ARE SEEKING 2 POSING AS EYE SPECIALISTS

Minneapolis, Oct. 3.—(UP)—Hennepin county authorities today sought two men posing as eye specialists after they allegedly had duped Edward Nelson, a farmer of near Waconia, Minn., of $257.

The men, Nelson reported, came to his farm and offered to remove a cataract from the eye of his brother, Solomon, for $600. They received two checks of $257 and $330 and left for Waconia to have them cashed.

The alleged eye specialists aroused the suspicions of a Waconia bank cashier and fled when he called a police officer.

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this—an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick, safe and lasting relief to Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. advt.

Warren, N. H., Oct. 3.—(UP)—Five men, all employed by a power company as field workers, were killed today when the Boston-Montreal flir of the Boston and Maine railroad crashed into an automobile on an unguarded grade crossing.

WITH all leading tire manufacturers producing at least three different qualities of tires, at three different prices . . . naturally the motorist is "up in the air" when it comes to knowing the quality of the tire he buys.

With RIVERSIDE, this confusion simply doesn't exist! Montgomery Ward & Co., like other leaders, offers you three different classes of tires. But the quality of each tire is clearly designated by a definite and specific mileage guarantee . . . on the Super-Service RIVERSIDE, an unconditional guarantee of 30,000 miles; on the regular RIVERSIDE, 16,000 miles; on WARDWEAR, 10,000 miles.

Brand names mean nothing to you unless you know what quality of tire you are buying.

A definite mileage guarantee on each grade of tire is the only sure method we have ever found for clearly defining tire quality to the buyer before he buys!

And just as there is no question about RIVERSIDE quality, there is none as to your price-saving. We believe that, in either the RIVERSIDE or in the WARDWEAR, you get a tire that no other brand equals—whether you are considering quality or price—or both. That's why we say—Don't Pay More For Other Tires Unless More Miles Are Guaranteed!

AGAINST ELIMINATING FLEXIBLE TARIFF ACT

Congressman Harold Knutson Expresses Sincere Stand in Interview

GREATLY AIDED FARMER

Tariff Provision Raised Import Rate on Butter, Eggs, Potatoes, Etc.

"It seems like old times to be back in Brainerd. The old town evidently is enjoying its share of prosperity," said Congressman Harold Knutson, of the sixth district, who is spending the day in Brainerd, meeting his many constituents.

"What do I think of the Senate's action in eliminating the flexible provision of the tariff? Well, nothing that the Senate does ever surprises me," said the congressman. "However, let me say that I am keenly disappointed in the Senate's action for the flexible section has been more beneficial to agriculture than any recent legislation that I can think of. Under that provision we were able to get some important concessions. For instance, the import rate on butter from 8 cents to 12 cents per pound, eggs from 6 cents to 7½ cents, potatoes from 30 cents per hundred to 50 cents, and so on down the line.

"Every agricultural organization is behind the flexible schedule, so is every business man. For my part I will never vote for a tariff bill that does not contain this feature and I am sure the majority of the members from the Northwest take a similar position. "It would be too bad if the Senate's action were to result in no tariff legislation for the Hawley bill carries a number of rates that would prove highly beneficial to the Northwest, and you know we can stand a little more prosperity up in this section.

"I'm wondering if the time hasn't come to abolish the American House of Lords. It may have been necessary in the early days of the Republic but it looks to me as though it has outlived its usefulness."

Congressman Knutson is at the Ramsford hotel where he is conferring with many friends and men prominent in the district.

Fewer gallons of SWP are needed because its wonderful "body" thoroughly covers more square feet of surface per gallon. Therefore it costs you less per job. Call us for an estimate—positive proof of the economy of SWP. Come and consult our beautiful new color schemes. This aid is yours merely for the asking.

MRS. BERTHA THEVIOT

has Just Returned from a Lengthy Visit in Europe

No sooner had Mrs. Theviot returned to Brainerd than she was employed by the Brainerd Flour and Feed Mill to talk with every housewife in Brainerd about the World Famous Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour.

"Kitchen-tested" means this flour has been "Kitchen-tested" in an oven just like yours, for uniformity of result in home baking, as every batch comes through the mill. Most baking failures are traced to lack of uniformity in the flour used; two sacks of the same brand often giving greatly varying results from the same recipe.

But GOLD MEDAL "Kitchen-tested" Flour acts the same way with your recipes every time you use it. That is why women by the thousands are flocking to use this utterly new all purpose type of flour.

You will find 12 new and unusual "Kitchen-tested" Recipes in every sack of Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour

If you need flour today or tomorrow then phone your nearest grocery and demand Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour.

Mrs. Theviot will call on you in a few days.

You risk nothing when you order

GOLD MEDAL FLOUR
 "Kitchen-tested" and FEEDS for they are guaranteed by the world's largest millers

We ask you to accept this fair offer. Order a sack of Gold Medal "Kitchen-tested" Flour from your grocer. Bake everything with this flour—and watch how perfectly everything turns out.

Give your stock Gold Medal Feeds—there's a feed for every purpose. Check the results very carefully. If these famous Gold Medal products ever fail to satisfy—your dealer will be glad to return the full purchase price.
